

The Christian Jewish Council of Greater Charleston invites you to join us for Charleston's Second Annual Celebration of Food and Faith!

Fasting and Feasting: a dialogue between Muslims and Jews

Monday, January 29, 2018 from 6:30-8:30 PM

Arnold Hall, 96 Wentworth Street, Charleston, SC, 29403

Join community members for a conversation about cultural and religious points of view between Jews and Muslims regarding Festivals and Fast days in their respective calendars.

The program begins with dialogue between Rabbi Michael Davies, rabbi of Congregation Dor Tikvah and Imam Abdel Majid, imam at Charleston Central Mosque, moderated by Elijah Siegler, Professor of Religious Studies at the College of Charleston.

Following the moderated discussions, attendees will form breakout groups and discuss issues beyond food, including Jewish and Muslim prayer practices, pilgrimage, clothing, scripture and charity. Discussions will coincide with a sampling of traditional Jewish (Kosher) foods and Hallel dishes from the Muslim world.

Admission is free and all are welcome!

Co-sponsored by the College of Charleston Department of Religious Studies, Yaschik/Arnold Jewish Studies Program, College of Charleston Arabic Club and the Roper St. Francis Mission Department.

The Christian Jewish Council of Greater Charleston is an organization that seeks to build bridges of understanding to promote sensitivity, tolerance, respect and fellowship among all faith groups.
